

2-1 Receiving

When you receive the motor, check the following items:

- If there is any obvious damage to the packaging and appearance? Make sure to take a photo of any damage and make a written record and report it to the shipping company and Delta immediately.
- Whether the content of the motor nameplate is consistent with the specifications of your order.
- If all accessories are complete and applicable.
- If there are special requirements, check whether the finished product is consistent with the specifications.